

Smartlink Acquires The Brogdon Group, Enhancing its End-to-End Services Offerings Nationwide

Venture will deliver Network Development and Operational Services to the Telecommunications Industry

ANNAPOLIS, MD. (January 9th, 2019) – Smartlink, a national leader in telecommunications network development and operations, announced the acquisition of The Brogdon Group, a national telecommunications inventory management company based in Birmingham, Alabama. This combined enterprise will provide Smartlink’s existing clients with further innovation and added value through enhanced end-to-end services offerings.

Smartlink’s President, Jason Campbell, adds, “Smartlink’s existing services complement Brogdon’s, enabling us to provide an extensive offering to wireless network operators across the nation, making us a unique player in our field. Having this foundation in place allows us to focus on expanding the products we offer, the places we work and the customers we serve.”

Smartlink’s acquisition is paramount to the fulfillment of its mission to provide value-added services to its customers. Campbell articulated, “Brogdon’s product line gives us exposure to the operational side of our customers’ businesses, providing a nationwide footprint of highly-qualified field technicians, and opens the door to new customers in the network operations world.”

The Brogdon Group COO, Will Stroup will join the Smartlink Team as Senior Vice President of Technical Services. “Smartlink’s existing portfolio of services will be optimized with an experienced nationwide technician workforce connected by proprietary state of the art inventory software. The combination of these product lines will enhance our capabilities to serve our customers,” said Stroup.
